I Think, I See, I Wonder

In August our Creation Care Team encouraged us to share images of the world that God has given us Julie Sheasby shared the image below with this explanation:

I was delighted to find a Californian poppy reseeding itself in an unexpected place. My dad gave me the seeds before he died and I thought they had all gone from my garden. I wondered at the resilience and gentle strength of nature that can bloom even in a concrete crack and how God can move and bless us so unexpectedly.
